Russia's war on Ukraine has seen systematic war crimes including killing of civilians, rape, destruction of infrastructure, and forced displacement and deportations of millions of people.

Ukrainian trade unions are calling for solidarity with Ukraine's resistance as it fights to liberate all of Ukraine, to support Ukraine's labour movement in their fight for independence, to defend workers' rights, human rights and democracy, and for a more just and democratic post-war reconstruction.

Come and listen to the voices of solidarity and resistance.

Chaired by Kevin McHugh PCS vice president

Speakers: Mark Serwotka, PCS general secretary and Oksana Holota, KVPU (Confederation of Free Trade Unions of Ukraine)
